PASTOR'S CORNER

It was a gift. A very special gift, a 1.6 carat diamond ring, tucked into a burgundy-colored box with gold piping and a gold clasp. The ring was meticulously placed inside a solid briefcase.

That gift, an engagement ring, was never to be presented by Andrew Krukar, the man who bought it, for it was stowed upon TWA Flight 800, a tragic airliner which crashed in flames several minutes after takeoff on July 17, 1996. In the blink of an eye, the ring was lost, adrift in a sea of sorrow.

Probably no story of that sad event was more poignant or moving than that of a woman named, Julie Stuart, the woman whose hand that engagement ring was intended to adorn. Her fiancé, Andrew perished on that fateful flight. He was flying early to Paris to meet Julie the very next day for their engagement. All their plans, all their hopes, all their dreams for the future suddenly and tragically dashed? How does one recover from that sadness? How does one keep moving forward in one's grief? How does one find the courage and the hope to continue?

Sadly, the story of Julie Stuart is just one of many tragedies that plague our world, stories that are displayed each and every day in the news. Loss, difficulty, sickness, disease, war, oppression, despair. Day after day after day. And thus it has been down through the ages. Let's be honest, the story of humankind is one long difficult story of darkness. This year in the Holy Land we were brutally reminded of the madness of hate, the insanity of violence.

And yet, in the midst of all of this, we, who call ourselves Christians, dare to light a flame. We have the audacity to celebrate in the deep dead of winter. We rejoice and we revel, we sing and we laugh. Because on this day, Christmas Day, we know that whatever the sadness, whatever the difficulty, whatever the pain, whatever the loss, still: Christ is born. "For unto us a Child is born, a son is given."
"Unto those who dwelt in darkness, a light has shown!"

This is not an escape into an illusion. This is neither fantasy nor make believe. We do not deny nor ignore the evil. We don't dull our senses with Christmas cheer, as if the sadness never existed. That should not be, this cannot be what Christianity stands for. Our religion is not, as Karl Marx famously said, our opiate, our drug. Instead, our faith commands us to look straight into the eyes of evil; it demands us to face steadfastly misfortune and sorrow. Yet, with hope. Why? Because we know that our God has visited us. We understand that our God knows our weakness. Our God knows our pain. Our God knows what we know. For our God became one of us. He leapt down from the heavens and made his dwelling among us, showing himself even to poor, simple shepherds.

Christmas is a time of light, a reminder of the light which came into the world. Christmas also challenges us to carry the light of Christ out into the world -- a world so often filled with, indeed resigned to darkness. One tiny light lit 2000 years ago continues to light the way for men and women even today. The Lord of Light, the Gift of God, the Christ. And so we must light the way for others in our own little imperfect ways.

Six months after the plane crash, a week before Christmas in 1996, the ring that Julie Stuart was to receive from her fiancé was returned to her by the FBI. It seems improbable, if not impossible, that they could recover such a small item out of the vast sea, but they did. And even though it is not quite the happy ending she had hoped for, I am certain that she will wear that ring as a lasting sign of the love that she shared with her beloved. Even in the saddest of situations, there is always hope, there is always life. It reminds us that no matter what may come our way -- because our God chose to come into our world, darkness will not defeat us. There is light after all.

This Christmas, as we search for what was lost in a sea of sadness, may we discover the gift that reminds us how deeply loved we are.

Merry Christmas!

Father Kevin

Missouri Bishops Encourage Missourians to Safeguard Sanctity of Human Life

December 11, 2023, JEFFERSON CITY, MO - We, the Catholic Bishops of Missouri, are committed to promoting the sanctity of human life in every circumstance, from conception until natural death. In Missouri, the dignity of life in its earliest stages is being threatened by proposed amendments to the state constitution that would remove legal protections for women and preborn children.

Though several initiatives are being contemplated and none have yet to be finalized for the November 2024 ballot, we encourage all Catholics and people of good will to safeguard as much as possible the fundamental principle of the right to life. We also support efforts that seek to reduce or eliminate the underlying social causes for abortion by expanding care and resources available to mothers. Even with legal protections for the unborn, as we have in our state today, more can still be done to build a culture of life.

The Missouri Catholic Conference will continue to collaborate with diocesan pro-life offices and with other pro-life groups to protect the health and safety of women and their children. As we stated after Roe v. Wade was overturned, the Catholic Church stands ready to continue providing spiritual and material support to expectant mothers and their families through our parishes and ministries, and to advocate on their behalf and on behalf of their unborn children at the state and federal levels. We look forward to the day when every child, born and unborn, has the love and support needed to thrive and reach his or her full potential. Let us pray for a greater recognition of the gift of each and every human life in our society.

REDUCE! REUSE! RECYCLE!

The fourth Sunday of Advent is here and it's Christmas Eve! Please remember to RECYCLE when we have exhausted our REDUCE and REUSE efforts.

- recycle that paper wrap IF IT DOESN'T have glitter or metallic designs
- recycle right! Stick with recycling Glass*, Paper, Cardboard, Metal food & beverage cans, Food & Beverage Cartons, and Plastic Beverage Bottles & Containers.
- drop off your Christmas lights at the Holy Redeemer School door to be taken to recycling
- recycle your Christmas greeting cards ONLY if they are glitter & metallic free

*The City of Webster Groves is now collecting glass recycling if you want to go the extra step to drop it off at the Public Works Department.

Important!

And one more note before you begin to sip your eggnog, please refrain from wish-cycling (when we throw something in the single-stream recycling bin in hopes that it can be recycled.) Follow this little rule of thumb: when in doubt, throw it out. Unfortunately, that broken glass ornament knocked out of the tree is not recyclable.
