PASTOR'S CORNER

FR. KEVIN SCHMITTGENS, PASTOR

“Father, is that a sin?”

Being a priest is like having any professional status. I am always on. I am always fair game. At a restaurant or bar, at any social event or gathering, anytime I am in public, someone will approach me with some question or gripe or complaint about the Roman Catholic Church.

It's OK. It comes with the territory.

Believe it or not, I don't mind the gripes or complaints. Think about it. Any institution will have its issues. Make it a global institution over two millennia years old that spans wildly different cultures with a billion or so members, and the issues multiply... exponentially. Usually after someone vents, I can commiserate with them, help them realize a few things that they might not know or have considered, get them laughing and help them realize that the Church is made up of extremely damaged human beings and so stuff is bound to happen, and will probably continue to happen until Jesus comes back. Easy peasy.

It is the questions that get to me. The primary reason is that often people are seeking simplistic one syllable answers to questions that often deserve a bit more nuance and complexity. Take for instance the seemingly innocuous question: Father, is that (fill in the blank) a sin? (Even worse, is when someone asks: Is this STILL a sin? A loaded question if I ever heard one.)

There is no easy way to answer this question. Obviously, there are actions and attitudes that most everyone would agree are morally wrong. But no one inquires about the morality of first degree murder. (We're against it, in case you were wondering, thumbs way down.) Instead I get questions about actions and inactions that seem more mundane and familiar, usually centered on our human sexuality. But instead of wandering into that moral minefield, and in order to keep this article shorter and age appropriate, let me talk about Sunday Mass attendance, or more to the point, nonattendance.

Father, is missing Mass on Sunday a sin? Is it a mortal sin?

If I answer NO, I've just offered that person easy justification, a “get out of jail free” card if you will, and that simplistic justification will not serve them well at all in their relationship with God. If I answer YES, they will share with me the most extreme example of how someone could not possibly make it to Mass (three inches of ice, a broken leg, a sick child and no transportation). I will appear dogmatic, doctrinaire, antiquated and controlling. As you can see, this question is posited with a wee bit of an agenda.

The real answer should focus on the person's own conscience. From the Catechism:

Deep within their conscience humans discover a law which they have not laid upon themselves but which they must obey. Its voice, ever calling them to love and to do what is good and to avoid evil, sounds in their hearts at the right moment. . . . For humans have in their heart a law inscribed by God. . . . Our conscience is our most secret core and sanctuary. There we are alone with God whose voice echoes in our depths.

Conscience is a judgment of reason whereby the human person recognizes the moral quality of a concrete act that they are going to perform, is in the process of performing, or has already completed.

In all we says and do, humans are obliged to follow faithfully what they know to be just and right. It is by the judgment of our conscience that we perceive and recognize the prescriptions of the divine law.

Two things about this. First you are OBLIGATED to follow your own conscience. Second, this is a very real way that God communicates with us. HOWEVER...your conscience needs to be both FORMED and INFORMED. Thus, following your conscience is a bit more complicated than doing whatever you want to do (or worse, feel like doing). You need balanced formation and you need proper information to follow your conscience.

With that in mind:

The Church gives you an obligation to go to Sunday Mass. The Sunday Eucharist is the foundation and confirmation of all Christian practice. For this reason the faithful are obliged to participate in the Eucharist on days of obligation, unless excused for a serious reason (for example, illness, the care of infants) or dispensed by their own pastor. Those who deliberately fail in this obligation commit a grave sin. Catechism 2181

That's what the Church teaches. I've given you the information.

But then you have to make a decision to act in good conscience. Your decision. All by yourself.

To this purpose, we strive to interpret the data of experience and the signs of the times assisted by the virtue of prudence, by the advice of competent people, and by the help of the Holy Spirit and his gifts. Catechism 1788.

So in any moral decision, Fr. Kevin can give you guidance. Fr. Kevin can give you information (or at least, point you to it). Fr. Kevin can help you consider some things that you may not have considered.

But ultimately, Fr. Kevin cannot make that decision for you.

Terrifying, huh.

“Father, is this a sin?” Well...

Father Kevin

First, you can critique my homily from the prior week (what did you like, what didn't you like, what didn't you understand) and then we will look at the readings for the next week and discuss what they mean to prepare my homily for the following Sunday.

There is no cost and each session will end by 10 am. The dates are February 20 and 27, March 5, 12, 19, and 26, and April 2.

Decline to Sign: Archdiocese of St. Louis - Respect Life Apostolate News

Pro-abortion supporters are attempting to put forth a ballot measure that would add language to the Missouri Constitution in the form of an amendment that would legalize abortion throughout all stages of pregnancy. Starting this month through May 5, they are in the process of collecting signatures throughout Missouri. They need to collect approximately 172,000 total valid signatures from registered voters in six out of eight congressional districts. “Decline to sign” as no pro-life groups in Missouri are collecting signatures for such a petition. If you see them in your community, call or text the statewide tipline, established by Missouri Right to Life, at 417.413.4134, and volunteers with “decline to sign” signs and information will be sent to that location to be a peaceful, pro-life presence.

Missouri Stands with Women – “Missouri Stands with Women [recently] launched to protect Missouri’s laws respecting the dignity of life, the safety of women and parental rights. The organization will be helping lead the fight against out-of-state funded initiative petitions, which are aimed at reversing Missouri’s pro-life laws and enshrining extreme abortion initiatives to the state’s constitution. Missouri Stands with Women is a united coalition of diverse citizens and groups across the state rooted in the firm belief that the well-being of women and girls is paramount, and they deserve protection from the potential risks posed by unrestricted abortions.” See the website for more details: <https://mostandswithwomen.org/about/>
